

Man in White Clothing

Carl had asked one of his employees to take this picture with a Polaroid camera. He had no idea that it would capture his auric field, the light that emanates from the soul that surrounds the body. Some other of Carl's employees drove into the parking lot, and told Carl that they saw an unusual sight. They saw a man, with long hair and a beard, dressed in a long white robe, walking along the highway.

Carl became quite excited, because the man he spoke with when he was in the scenic stop along Skyline Drive, in North Carolina, who told Carl to build a church, was dressed in the same manner. Carl thought it might be the same entity.

Carl drove to find this man, but was unsuccessful.
