	November 21, 1977

I am Ishcomar.

I come to you from the higher reaches of space. I lived on your planet approximately 30,000 years ago, according to your scale of time measurement. I come to you through the instrument that has beamed in to our dimension. And since the channel is open, I come to you briefly to give you a message. That many changes are coming to your earth, many changes are in the makes at this time. We have been trying to get through to your civilization over the thousands of years, but there have been forces preventing us from doing so. Many on your earth plane have been trained not to accept us. But we come to you with love and understanding. Finally we have managed to break through the mental barriers that have been set up. We are now able to achieve the mission that we have wanted to do, over the years of time, within the next few years according you're your calendar of time measurement.

We will see many changes taking place on your earth plane. All peoples of all nations will come together to understand, in a new bond of love and understanding. A spiritual awakening will be coming to the surface, like none that you have ever seen before. Finally peace will come to the earth before it will be too late, for we have been trying to bring this to your world for a long time.

We are in the outer reaches that you cannot touch even with your electronic equipment. But we come to you through the open channels as the one you are listening to tonight. We promise that we will touch with you again in the coming weeks. I am Ishcomar. I go in peace and love.
