My name is Roy.

It is difficult for you to allow us to speak through you at this time. But we only await your opening up so that we may speak through you. When I was on the earth plane, many years ago, the last name does not matter; because we know that you feel better to know who is talking to you, from the higher side of life. I have spoken through the instrument, who is talking to you, now, on several occasions.

I have been asked to speak to you at this time to let you know, that you are all beacons, from the shores of a dark and ignorant world. Be not afraid for all you are carrying a torch—a torch into the darkness of ignorance. Realizing as you go through everyday, that there is another dimension, beyond that change in your life, a change in your role that you call death. It is just a matter of discarding one body and continuing on with another. Your new body, which you will have after discarding the physical, is quite similar to the one you are in now. For it is one that is indestructible, it is one that lives on in another dimension. When you reach this side of life your body on this side is just as real to your friends as the physical that you are in at this time.

But you must allow us to speak through you. It is not something we can do without your cooperation, without your help. There is a great deal for you to learn, and you are learning and learning well. Be not discouraged that you are not hearing, or seeing, or picking up the vibrations; as we are preparing you to do so at this time. But go onward, striving always to allow yourself to become attuned to our dimension. For it will help you a great deal when you reach the time which you cross over into our world. Many of your people pass through the change of death, and come into our world ignorant of our Law of Vibration, ignorant of our Laws of Communication, ignorant of all things that exist here on this plane. They come here not realizing that they live, they breathe in this other dimension.

As they have been taught down through ages, that they stay in a state of coma, a state of sleep, for a certain amount of time before they reach this plane. This we are sorry to say is wrong. As you open your own senses, as you become aware of the knowledge while you are on your plane, it will make the bridge between the two worlds so much easier to cross, so that you will become another higher self while you are still on the earth plane. It will be easier for you when you reach this land, for you to progress here, as you have progressed there. Let no one change your thoughts or change your mind because of the ignorance on your plane of life. So many of them do not see beyond the end of their nose. You are all on the threshold of a great awakening, of a great change. Always remember: knock and the door shall open, ask and you shall receive.

We await your call. Peace be with you.
